“ To the family my deepest condolences on your loss. Like is already short let alone losing a family member at such an early age. The words of our Lord Jesus gives us comfort at the right moment. His words at John chapter 11 can be such a source of comfort where he ressurected his dear friend Lazarus. That hope can help us to heal in time. I pray that this will comfort the family and friends. Once again my thoughts and prayers are with you all at this moment.

“ My son, fought so hard. I've never known anyone so determined to kick that habit. He'd fall and get right back up and try, try, try again. Sadly, we all have our weak moments and that last one got the better of him. I love you so much Adam. You made me smile, laugh, cry, worry, but always filled my heart with love. I will miss hearing you call me "Ma". You knew I didn't like that so much so you said it even more. Now, I'd give anything to hear that again. You are free now. And that gives me comfort. ~ Mom

“ Sending love to Adams family and friends. I have many great childhood memories with Adam and enjoyed our years in Burlington as young adults as well. Wishing you all nothing but the best during this incredibly surreal time

“ Adam played an integral role in saving my life in 2006. I got clean in May 2007 and I'll never forget him. He appeared throughout my life in the most random places... They say friends are yours for a reason, a season, or a lifetime; he was a lifer. I may not have seen him for some time but he was forever in my heart. Hearing this news crushed me. It seems that addiction robs us of the brightest lights first, and far too soon.

My love and prayers are with your family. I'll keep carrying the torch for him- and the countless others lost to this disease.

“ Leslie, Toby
Adam was a special boy, like Toby, in my heart. The sadness from our moving apart has never dissipated. A year ago, I had a feeling that he had passed and it shook me deeply. Not knowing where any of you resided, I was at a loss to confirm or disprove that feeling. Now, a year later, stumbling upon this site has flooded my mind with memories and my heart with sorrow. How tragic a loss for you... and to all whose lives were touched by him. I hope you have found some measure of peace. and that it surrounds you in all your remaining days. My love to both of you.
