

Alden Marshall

September 27, 2025

Alden P. Marshall, 92, of Hudson, NH, passed away peacefully at home on his birthday, September 27, 2025, following a courageous battle with cancer and kidney disease.

Born in Portsmouth, NH, Alden was the son of the late Willard and Ruth (Silva) Marshall. He was predeceased by his beloved wife of 71 years, Carolyn. Together they built a life that took them across the country, living in South Carolina, Hawaii, and New Mexico, before settling in Hudson, NH, where Alden resided for nearly five decades.

A proud veteran, Alden was honorably discharged from the United States Air Force. He went on to work briefly for RCA before dedicating the remainder of his professional career to MIT Lincoln Laboratory. His work took him to Hawaii, the South Pacific, and Massachusetts, where he contributed to significant advancements in defense and technology.

In retirement, Alden became an avid beekeeper, owning and operating B-Line Apiaries, a pursuit that would make him a well-known and respected figure in the New England beekeeping community. He served as President of the Merrimack Valley Beekeepers Association and was honored as a Life Member for his dedication and contributions. In 1999, Alden and his longtime beekeeping friend, Dick Dion, were invited to Washington, D.C., to represent

New Hampshire at the Smithsonian's Annual Folk Festival. Every spring, Alden made annual trips to Georgia and South Carolina to bring back bee packages for his own hives and for local beekeepers, generously supporting both seasoned and aspiring apiarists. He regularly shared his knowledge at schools and community events and was always generous with his time and expertise.

Beyond his work and hobbies, Alden was a devoted and attentive grandfather. He never missed an opportunity to support his grandchildren in their academic, athletic, or extracurricular pursuits—including cheering on his eldest grandson at lumberjack competitions. Known for his patience and quiet wisdom, Alden also enjoyed classical music in his quieter moments.

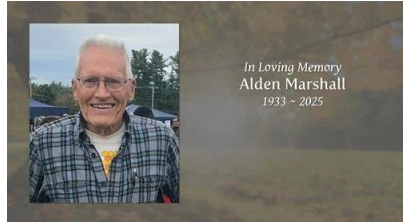

He is survived by his three sons: Craig H. Marshall of Hudson, NH; Timothy P. Marshall and his wife Anne of Greenland, NH; and Lee J. Marshall and his wife Jennifer of Londonderry, NH. He also leaves behind his cherished grandchildren: Benjamin, Alex, and Jack. Alden is survived by his siblings Bruce, Bonnie, Jeff, and John Marshall, and was predeceased by his brother Barry Marshall.

“ My condolences to Alden's family. I am so sorry to learn of his passing. I worked with Alden for many years at Lincoln Laboratory and flew on the Liki-Tiki with him in Hawaii. As a beekeeper myself, I think maybe I'm the one who ignited his interest in bees. Alden was one of the kindest, least judgmental persons I have known. I valued his friendship greatly. May your memories of this fine person comfort you.
Sincerely,
David Kocher

“ My condolences to Tim, Lee and Cragé, Alden’s boys, losing a Dad as special as Alden must be very hard,! You boys know that more than anyone. And I would say, his words and examples will live forever!

One of my best thoughts I admired of your Dad, was his kindness and respect for others, he never said a bad word about anyone! Never, not to many people can say that!
In 1975 I meet Alden, a big plus to the Blackstone street neighborhood, I was lucky to have the honor of committing 30 miles South to Da Lab (MIT Lincoln Lab) everyday for over 40 years of friendship was a joy and blessing to me. Grateful for his knowledge and wisdom, sharing our thoughts! He was a great listener! A man who cared. So many good conversations and experiences from two fly boys, Air Force days, Tim do you recall? When you I had Alden put his AF hat on I gave him? Cocked to one side, looking so natural on him, of his proud day’s of being a Staff Sergeant NCO, leadership role, at a young age.
I could write a novel of our fun days together, canoe trips, fishing and even camping on the shores of the Merrimack River, running, and bicycling over the bridge of that river to Carl Anderson house to car pool to Da Lab.
You boys do your best in such memorable days of your Dad and Mom.
Sandy and I love each of you.
Buddy and good friend, Rest in eternal peace.

“ Lee, Tim, Craig I'm so sorry for the passing of your Dad. He was a such a stand up man who was so well respected in the neighborhood, the community and beyond. Alden always had great wisdom and advice. I wish I had remembered half of it! He never objected to us grabbing the canoe (the Bismark) to go do some midnight fishing. In fact, I think he was a little jealous he wasn't coming along. Obviously, whatever project he was working on was too important, yes even at midnight. It definitely had something to do with the bees. He had to do it at midnight because he would run miles in the morning before leaving for work the next day.

“ Alden was a great man and a mentor of mine and an instructor when I joined Merrimack Valley Beekeepers 19 years ago. I learned alot from him and he will never be forgotten. As Vice President of Merrimack Valley Beekeepers now, I promise to keep this club moving forward to continue what he started many years ago.
