“ Dear Caitlin,
I did not know your sister, but I fondly remember you from Nottingham West when I worked there as a Reading Tutor. You were such a nice student to have in class, because you were polite and kind and you never had harsh words or attitudes. I remember how often you showed delight when speaking about sports. I was so saddened for your loss when I read about your sister's passing in the newspaper. You are in my thoughts, and I wish peace for you in this very difficult time.

“ To Greg, Terri, and family--
I just heard of this horrible tragedy of yours today. I have no words to say that could ever comfort but know that I can give you my friendship and support to help you through this time of sorrow. I watched the video of Amanda and she is a beautiful angel. This is an awful group that we are in and the only comfort that I have is the time I had with my son, those wonderful 18 years. Seeing all of the family pictures, it does show that you had 23 years of great memories. That is truly a blessing that we must believe in everyday because if we keep asking "why", that answer never comes our way.
My heart is broken again and I am very very sorry that Amanda was taken away from you and your family.

Amanda was my friend at Plymouth State. Amanda took in my St. Bernard Lola when I was in jeopardy of losing her due to my landlord. If it were not for Amanda, who not only housed but trained my dog, I would not have my big girl now. I remember giving a recommendation for Amanda to pet adoption agencies saying she was one of the most loving and caring people I have ever met. I really know and hope she is in a better place. “ I had the honor of meeting Greg, Teri, and their daughter Caitlin at a tournament last year in Manchester, NH. I never had the privilege of meeting their daughter Amanda. If she was anything like her parents I could tell you that she was dedicated and loving. I am very sorry to hear about your loss. No words can describe the pain you are going through, but you should know that your friends and family are here for you. Death is just another path, one that we must all take. To lose someone at such a young age begs the question... why her? why now? God works in mysterious ways. Her memory will live on as well as her spirit. I send all the love and support that I can.

“ To Amanda's family,

I don't even know what to begin writing. It may seem strange seeing my name, as it's the same as Amanda's. I went to Plymouth with her. The same class. I knew who she was before I ever met her because we had the same name. I remember our mail getting mixed up. When we actually met, we hit it off and became friends. We called each other "my twin." She was a phenomenal person. I was in disbelief as I heard the news today. I moved to Virginia a while ago and received a message on facebook from a former classmate...praying it was a mixed up rumor I searched the internet and found the arrangements.

I wish I could be there to commemorate Amanda's life, but I wont be able to.

I just wish I knew what to say but I don't. As college ended, we lost touch a bit and the last time I saw Amanda was actually a week before I moved, in Sept. '08.

I wish I knew what to say, but all I can say really is I am so sorry for your loss. As I am grieving I cannot imagine the pain Amanda's family must be going through.

I pray that someday we will all see her in heaven. I don't know the circumstances...how or why this happened, but I pray for the best for her and her family. I know that God is a good God, and while horrible things happen it's hard. I just pray for strength and restoration in the coming days. May Jesus shine his loving grace & mercy upon all of you.

Amanda was a great person with a smile that could light up a room. again I am so sorry for your loss.
