“ Sending our heartfelt condolences to Sheila, Dave, Brittini and family. Our fondest memory of Ann is every Halloween Ann would bring the boys a big bag of candy. Scott and I would laugh because the kids were going be up for days. Ann was always smiling and laughing. We will surely miss her. Sending lots of love to all who loved Ann. Jill, Scott, Dan, Scott Jr, and Jameson.

“ So sorry for your loss... She was truly a great woman whom I spent many days talking to at work about everything imaginable. She was a proud Mom and had the biggest smile when talking about her kids and grand-kids. Her sense of humor was unmatched and I still remember and use one of her classic lines. One day she said "Joe I think I have Anal Glaucoma" I was like "huh" ? She said "I just don't see my ass coming to work tomorrow!" Mrs Annmarie you will be sorely missed.

“ I've known Ann Marie for less than a year, but it seems like a lifetime. She had a way of making you feel comfortable as soon as you met her! She always called me "Susie-Q". I miss her so much.
Love you Ann Marie.

“ AnnMarie bought sunshine into our work area. She took everything in stride, with a smile, sometimes an eye roll, and then her unique and infectious laugh. AnnMarie was so proud of her family. When she talked about her family she just gleamed with pride. I am so glad that I have the good fortune and privilege to know you. Rest easy my friend. You are missed.

“ Oh that laugh I'll miss so much! Every day was the same, Hi Annnnnnn Marie in my best sing song voice and then she would just laugh! I'm glad I got to hug her before she left work the last time, but I'm sad my mama bear is gone. Until we meet again my sweet friend....

“ I used to call her "The Boss Of Me", (she was my group leader) which always made her laugh that laugh and she was the best. I then got a new boss before she left for good, I said " I guess you're not the boss of me any more", she said "I know, that makes me sad". Well now I am very sad and miss her.
