“ Gerald, I will hold you in my heart and through your memories find peace. I will Remember your journey and smile as I know a new one has just begone. I always laugh when I tell people the advice you gave me, I don't even think you realized how much it meant to me, or how it inspired my life. Gerald's words of wisdom (One day I was feeling down and Gerald was feeling very good lol, he looked at me and said Kimmy what's bothering you, what's the worst thing that ever happened to you, not taking him seriously I looked at him and just smiled, he said no really what causes you the most pain, think about he said, so I did I thought about what burden I was carrying and the hurt that was bring me down, he then asked do know what it is and I said yes I do, he looked me in the eyes and said well forget about it or it will ruin your life.) That day I understood Gerald and to this day when I'm feeling really bad I remember his simple bit of advice and I choose to forget the sorrow and find happiness. I hope that we can all take his words and choose to not focus on his death, but remember and celebrate his life.

To my family, I wish I could be there to comfort you in this time of loss. I believe in all of your strength and perseverance and know that we will all come together and help each other through as we always do. That is what makes us special through all of our pain and loss we find reasons to laugh and smile, maybe we learn from (grandma Ginny) who has such great strength, in her darkest days she always seems to find light, she falls down and always gets right back up, she was there for Gerald, she gave him a wonderful home with lots of love and good meals, a place where he could chill out and just be Gerald.

Mom, My thoughts are with you. I like to think that you now have three angels who will watch over you and keep you safe, I'm so sorry for your loss and I admire your strength. You where a great sister to Gerald from looking after him when you where kids and being there for him as adults I know there was special bond between the two of you.##imported-begin##Kim Mondello##imported-end##
