“ It is a sad day to find out your father passed away months later, knowing not one person thought to inform me, his daughter, but to mention me in his obituary... And my name is Christina not just Tina

Tina I am in the same boat as you. I actually found out on my own (at work when I happened across it) and am honestly hurt no notification of any sort was sent out. I had tried for years to contact them with no response. It would be nice to reconnect with you. <3

*Christina,
My heart breaks for you, Ritchie, and Bonnie. Claire, you were deceived.
Bonnie had tried to connect with her dad several times over the past years with no response. Sending cards/letters. Wondering if he received them. Fearful of calling out of fear of rejection . She wanted nothing from him, only to connect.*

Bonnie and Mary, I am sad and hurt by the pain you feel, and can only agree that we share the same feelings. I to have reached out numerous times, as well as my mother , to try and speak to my dad . so I do feel it is a pattern he chose to live by, suppressing and denying his children

“ My dear brother, Jim:

I miss you so very much. You were very brave during your long illness and breathing became so difficult for you. I am very grateful that you are now at peace. I thank Maureen for always being there for you and taking such good care of you. You may not have always listened to her but she had the patience to continue to take care of you!

I am so proud of all that you have accomplished during your lifetime. You were always so good and caring for your children and grandchildren. You were also amazingly gifted at carpentry and repairing and building things. I used to worry about you climbing up those telephone poles but you thought nothing of it. I am also very proud of the work you and your colleagues accomplished for Hanscom Air Force Base.

When I think of you now I will remember the fun we had growing up in Cambridge, MA. You and our brother, George, were always so good to me and protective of me. Say hello to mom and dad, George and Jackie, Sean Michael Reardon, and Eileen Tatman for us.
