

Josephine Frances Steckevicz

January 4, 1920 - November 25, 2018

Josephine Frances (Moran) Steckevicz, who preferred being addressed “Mrs. Edwin”, was born in Malden, Massachusetts, the youngest of three daughters of John F. and Maria (Fahey) Moran. She lived in Hudson since her marriage in 1947 to Edwin F. Steckevicz, who pre-deceased her in April 2008 after 61 devoted years of marriage.

Jo received her Bachelor’s degree from Regis College and began her career as executive secretary in the Psycho-Educational Clinic at Harvard University. When she married Edwin, they moved to Hudson, where over the years they contributed richly to the community and joyfully raised their two children, Mary Jo and Randy. “Jo and Eddie” operated the Clover Farm Store, the hub for fresh food and unparalleled customer service. Jo was an influential leader in Catholic Women’s Guild, N.H. Federation of Women’s Clubs, Hudson Fortnightly Club and PTA. An active participant in Saint John the Evangelist Church community, Jo regularly cooked and delivered special dinners to the convent, the rectory, and the Capuchin Friary. She led many troops of Brownies and Girl Scouts in creative cross-cultural and humanitarian projects. A devoted mother, Jo was actively engaged with her children’s interests, producing plays performed in the yard, venturing into tent camping, and an annual week at Hampton Beach. She created a warm, hospitable home atmosphere, where teenagers and monks from the Friary felt free to drop in anytime to socialize.

Jo accomplished so many projects with utmost competence and grace, including founding and operating the Winnstead, a successful restaurant, and working as a youth counselor with Neighborhood Youth Corps and parent advocate with Headstart.

In her fifties, Jo commuted to night classes at University of New Hampshire, earning her Master's Degree in Vocational Education, while teaching full-time in the Business Department at Merrimack High School. She organized the region's first Cooperative Education program, recruiting employers to provide job placements for students, and advocated for her students in their jobs and future careers. She guided and supported countless students over the years, many of whom returned to tell her how she had changed their lives. She continued to meet annually with her "Co-op Girls", since her retirement from full-time teaching at the age of 74.

While excelling in her teaching career, she explored art and became proficient in oil painting, watercolor, collage, needlepoint, embroidery, and even built a cherry wood coffee table with the Woodworking Department at Merrimack High School. She created all of her paintings of images meaningful to special people, to whom she gave the art, after Eddie carefully framed each piece.

Precious wife, mother and grandmother, Jo will be remembered for her boundless generosity, humor, and huge heart extending to her beloved family and friends, as well as strangers. Her physical and spiritual health were supported and enriched by the loving care of her amazing neighbors and the kind caregivers of Healthy at Home and Home Health and Hospice. For the past five years, the dedicated staff of Hunt Community have provided immeasurable, sensitive care of her health, comfort and quality of life. Jo had strong faith and a deep devotion to "The Blessed Mother". She often procured a Green Scapular for persons in distress, assuring them that Catholic belief was not necessary for the scapular to bring solace. She experienced a truly happy life from girlhood into her 90s. She regularly proclaimed that she was ever grateful for having “the best life and the best husband and children any woman could ever wish for.”

Members of her family include her daughter, Mary Jo Steckevicz and her husband, Dennis Redfield, of Cape Elizabeth, Maine; her son, Edwin M. (Randy) Steckevicz of Cambridge, Massachusetts; her grandson, John Redfield Steckevicz of Portland, Maine; and her sister-in-law Joan Steckevicz of Nashua. She was pre-deceased by her sisters Juliet Burgoyne and Ida K. Moran.

Visiting hours will be held on Tuesday, November 27th from 6pm-8pm in the DUMONT-SULLIVAN FUNERAL HOME, 50 FERRY ST. IN HUDSON, NH. “ Dear Randy, Joe, and all family members,

I don't know where to start to tell you all how much Josie meant to me. When I began teaching at Merrimack High, she was like a mother to me . . . I just loved her because she cared so much about student success. More than that, I knew she loved me and we often laughed together and just had such a strong professional and non-professional bond.

When we had both stopped teaching, we still shared Christmas and St. Patrick's Day!! I used to bring corned beef and cabbage on St. Pat's. I will always think of her on March 17 each year.

Anyone who knew her, knew her incredible, risque sense of humor. Through many "trials" in my life, humor has kept me going; I certainly had my sense of humor embellished by knowing Josie.

She taught my children . . . and fostered the work ethic that both still possess. Every student remembers how insistent she was on perfection. Thank God for her refusal to accept less.

Josie was an extraordinary woman who never bragged. Reading her biography, I am even more impressed with her accomplishments. She was truly a trail blazer.

I am, of course, sad that she has left us, but I know where she is and that is good. There will be no typing errors in Heaven!

God bless you all. How lucky we all were and are to have known such a remarkable lady.

“ I am very saddened at the passing of our beloved teacher. We were planning our visit this week, to visit her very soon, for our lunch with her, right Becky. It would seem that perhaps, that was not supposed to be. We, myself, Becky and Deb, have visited her many many times over the past 25 years, being the students in her very first Coop Program at Merrimack High School 1972. She was a wonderful wonderful woman in my life, with a bright light, and she always made me think, appreciate, and smile. Oh we girls laughed at those lunches. And she always made sure we girls did not leave lunch without "dessert". She didn't have to twist our arms. We began meeting her in Nashua, then it was Hudson near her home, at her favorite restaurant, T Bones. She knew the whole gang in there and we were treated extra special while we were with her. Our last few visits were at Hunt Community. One time she was so tickled and asked us to open her closet door, and who do we see hanging on it?. A life sized poster of Tom Brady, we laughed. She loved the Patriots, yes, and Tom. She always told us that she has had a "wonderful" life, and the picture of her posted here, shows that bright light and her happy eyes and you can see that she meant it, when she said that. She did have a wonderful life, family, husband, and now she is with her "beloved" Eddie, and I am pretty sure she will have lunch with Deb sometime soon. You will be dearly missed our Mrs. S. Or, as she told us over the years, "call me Josie". Rest well dear Josie. Love you very much, Patty B.

“ I'm so sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Steckevicz. I was lucky enough to be her student in the early 80s. I benefited from her hard work with the cooperative education program and am still working in an office setting. I often remember her and the things she taught me. What an amazing woman. My sympathy to her loved ones.
