“ As part of a project for our AP U.S. History class at Nashua South, we interviewed Louis Prince and others at the VFW. He invited a friend and me to visit him at home to hear his stories. We sat for hours with him, listening intently to his fascinating stories. We kept in touch after that point and I have always been grateful for that small friendship, even as we haven't talked in many years now. I have thought of him often. Please know what an inspiration he was, even to those admiring at a distance. You are all in our prayers.
