“Gone way too soon my friend. Thanks for all the fun memories in New Orleans back in Sep 2017, and all the funny jokes and chats we have shared ever since. Funny, fun, but most of all, a great guy, is how I will always remember you by. I'll miss you very much.

“ Rich was such a good, humble and loyal friend. We first met in grade school back in our home town of Saugus and we played baseball, street hockey and basketball together. Rich would move away and we lost touch until 1997 we reconnected and I attended my first NFL football game in Nashville with him. Rich came to my retirement from the Air Force in 2000 in Tennessee and he helped celebrated my 50 birthday taking in a NE Patriots Redskins game when I lived in Washington DC. On occasion we would get together for breakfast or lunch when I was in town and chat via text message or telephone throughout the years. Rich's passing hits home and is a warning to us all tell your friends and love ones you loved them each and every time for you never know if that day is the last time you get to see them on this earth again. I'm comforted with the fact that I know that I will get to see my friend Rich again and it warms my heart that the last time we were together my friend was treating me to my very first NE Patriots game in Foxboro, Massachusetts and it was something he loved to do. It was a wonderful day with my old friend who I will miss. He was a kind hearted soul of a friend. So at night when heavenly peace is flying above the world that sorrow mars think not of my friend Rich's grave with a sigh, for he greets us from the stars now.

Pauline my deepest condolences.

“ With my being a Steelers fan, Rich was the only reason that I ever had a care about the Patriots. He was a good friend from Southwestern and on.
